DISCOVER BIO5 OPEN HOUSE AND RECEPTION

Wednesday, February 27, 2019
5:00pm - 9:00pm

Thomas W. Keating Bioresearch Building | Rm 103
1657 E Helen St., Tucson, AZ 85719

During the month of February, the BIO5 Institute will host a series of exciting events designed to showcase the innovative research happening now at the University of Arizona and the inspiring ways we are preparing our next generation of scientists for their future.

The culmination of this month-long celebration of science will be our special invitation open house and reception on Wednesday, February 27. This will be a “public sneak peek” into BIO5’s world-class research and discovery endeavors focused on solving the world’s grand challenges, improving society, and impacting Arizona.

With guided and self-guided lab tours, hands-on discover stations, KEYS alumni poster presentations, inspiring discussions, and much more, you will learn how UA research grows into meaningful innovation. You will meet BIO5 researchers in their labs throughout the tri-building research complex that includes the Thomas W. Keating Bioresearch Building, the new Bioscience Research Laboratories, and the Medical Research Building.

JOIN US, AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS, FAMILY, AND COLLEAGUES FOR THIS ONE-OF-A-KIND EVENING!
